Abstract:

The freedom movement of India Mahatma Gandhi plays pivotal role with his enlightened activities. Gandhi considered that all human beings also right to freedom, equality and fraternity in their native land. According to him the world family of mankind is the most important of our objectives and essence of humanism. He aimed at the oneness of humanity to make a society independent from social discrimination. The entire public action of Gandhi in India and South- Africa was to attain this goal. Gandhi came to know as a greatest humanist in the history of world. For him, service to humanity is service to God. Therefore, if we the creator God, we would not hate or hurt anyone by any violent mean. Gandhi vehemently opposed the British rule in India with basically the exploiting the Indian people's. When he came back
